Introduction

AKI (Asosiasi Kontraktor Indonesia), the Indonesian Contractors Association established since 1973, nowadays has become one of the Indonesia's most prestigious associations and represents the very best in construction services.

AKI also become a member of regional associations such as, ASEAN Constructors Federation (ACF) and International Federation of Asian and Western Pacific Contractors Association (IFAWPCA).

AKI Helps its member companies in pursuing new market opportunities at home and abroad, drawing up contracts and completing projects. It also arranges and facilitates cooperation among and between the Indonesia construction industry and its overseas affiliations.

General Assembly

The highest ruling body within AKI is the General Assembly of member companies, held at least once in a year to discuss and seek solutions on various issues facing members. The General Assembly also elects AKI's Executive Board.

The Executive Board

The Executive Board comprises a Chairman, Vice Chairmen, a Secretary General, a Treasurer nine Board Members who oversee the following committees:

- Research and Technology
- Human Resources Development and Membership
- National Construction Development
- Rules & Regulation
- National Government Organization Affairs
- National Non-Government Organization Affairs

Certification Committee

In phase of global challenges, AKI certifies its member as one of the key services to provide by all Construction Associations Governed under the Independent National Construction Services Development Board (LPJK) established by Law No. 18 year 1999 of Indonesia. All such services are carried out according to a certification and qualification program set by the association.

Internationally

Having competed and won, against some of the world's best industry players in Indonesia mean that AKI contractors now have the experience and expertise to venture abroad. This will be a focus of AKI development in the coming years as it seeks to explore new opportunities worldwide.

Through The Integration of Services

AKI ensures that member companies are equipped to handle all aspects pertaining to a contractors completion. Engineering procurement and construction, pre financing and turnkey deliveries are now within the scope of AKI contractors either as individual projects or as an integral undertaking.

Vision and Integrity

Vast opportunities in infrastructure projects throughout Indonesia and across Asia Pacific in the coming years will beckon internationally capable contractors from all over the world.

This constitutes both a challenge and opportunity which AKI members, as the leading contractors in Indonesia, constantly pursue through a vision of determination and integrity. We are meeting these challenges through Research, International Cooperation, Education, Training and the use of Advance Technology.

AKI as an association has distinguished itself over 41 years of existence. Our name and reputation have continued to grow for over two decades because our members have honored the aspirations of our customers, partners, government, societies and the environment both at home and abroad.

Benchmarking

AKI provide several comparative studies outside Indonesia to broaden the knowledge of its members and Benchmarking as well as the member of ACF and IFAWPCA

International Cooperation

AKI promotes bilateral and multilateral cooperative effort such as mutual cooperation with construction industries of other country and International organizations.

Strength

As we move towards the 21st century, the challenges of the 1990s still lie ahead. Our resolve and determination are unquestionable and our four main objectives are a tribute to the long term growth and establishment of AKI.

We aim to:

- Develop behavioral guidelines and business ethic among Indonesian contractors.
- Unite and strengthen relationships and foster cooperation among contractors.
- Seek to develop and assist as well as to boost the professional capacity of its contractors.
- Strive for common progress by protecting the individual interests of its members.

AKI Members - Becoming The Dominant Players

There is evidence of role shift between foreign contractors and their local partners. In many current projects, AKI members are now act as leading contractors in a consortium. It is a breakthrough achievements for the AKI Members as during the late seventies Indonesian contractors were merely signed on as sub-contractors.

With Expertise to Compete Nationally

As AKI members continue to grow in strength and expertise, it is determined to bring a new perspective to the roles of today's contractors. AKI members became more competitive in the global participation and especially in the private sector development. AKI members have never been more ready to compete today than at any previous time.

This is especially evident in the growing prevalence among Indonesia Contractors to form successful consortia in competition against foreign contractors.
